General Valuation Consulting

Our consulting services are tailor made to the scope and requirements of our customers. We provide the best options using the most current technologies and methodologies available and evolve as new practices emerge.

- Mass valuation analysis
- Consulting on data collection requirements
- Setting up revaluation areas

Training and Workshops

We provide customized, specialized training in the use of many analysis methodologies (including GIS and statistical methods) for understanding trends and relationships within assessment and sales data. We take an active learning approach to training, so customers can conduct analysis alongside our staff and apply lessons to real datasets. Training is provided in:

- Most valuation and statistical analysis methodologies
- Use of R and Python to conduct valuation analysis
- Use of GIS within valuation and application of results
- Any Aumentum Tech Marketplace 360 application and how to apply results
- Any Aumentum Tech module for application or setup

Training is automatically built into every project, so that you can be confident in utilizing the results and apply them within the context of your analysis.

Market Segmentation Analysis

The most important variable in any valuation study is location and ensuring that properties are properly classified. We use proven methodologies that assist appraisers and modelers in delineating market areas for use in all approaches to value.

The Leader in Valuation Consulting

Our expert staff will help you save time, increase productivity and take your understanding of data to the next level on your next valuation project.

Sales Ratio Studies and Exploratory Analysis of Market Areas

Sales ratio studies are essential for statutory compliance across all jurisdictions. We specialize in analysis and support for understanding where both vertical and horizontal equity issues may be present and help jurisdictions maintain IAAO standards. We conduct analysis using statistics on mean and median ratios, coefficient of dispersion (COD), price related differential (PRD), price related bias (PRB) and confidence intervals among other relevant statistics. We also provide interactive visual context using maps, graphs, and charts to further evaluate results and summaries. Aumentum Technologies works directly with customers to define specialized areas of analysis and stratifications.

Time Trend Analysis

Understanding economic trends is an essential component for adjusting market conditions in any jurisdiction. We provide several approaches to analyzing time trends in accordance with IAAO standards including: paired sales analysis, resale analysis, sales ratio time trend analysis, multiple regression analysis, and comparison of per-unit values.

Cost Calibration and Development

Keeping up with cost and market trends is an essential component of the valuation office. We provide support in calibrating tables for a market modified cost approach as well as income capitalization rates and trends. We utilize statistical methodologies like regression to extract value components from the market and compare with vertical and horizontal equity measures. The results of this analysis can be added back into your CAMA system to enhance valuation cost/income models.

Income Capitalization Rate Development

We help derive capitalization rates for various types of commercial properties using the income approach to valuation. This includes modeling rates, sales, and rents.

The Leader in Valuation Consulting

Our experienced staff will give you the edge in producing efficient, fair and equitable valuations.
